

I selected Copenhagen Carbon Management to undertake an assessment of greenhouse gas emissions in 2010 for a small public sector organisation. I chose Copenhagen Carbon due to their impressive proposal and also because they were able to offer a 'data-mining' service, i.e. we provided all the raw data and they extracted the relevant parts in order to produce the GHG audit, saving us time in what was an unfamiliar area. This service helped overcome a significant barrier to assessing our emissions. Copenhagen Carbon were able to offer a full-scope assessment of the organisation's carbon footprint including staff commuting to work, where they designed and managed an online survey of staff. They also inspected our premises and provided energy efficiency advice. I was very pleased with their work and posted the report on our website.

I have no hesitation in recommending Copenhagen Carbon's greenhouse gas auditing service.
